The future graduates of '51 were known this year as the promising sophomore class. This year the class is composed of seventy-four students and is under the charge of the Miss Kuzetser and Mr. Stein. The class officers consist of the following: President, John Orr; and Secretary, Ethel Cullinan. In the seventies were Lois Leek and Alan Sullivan.

The sophomores have proven themselves to be an outstanding group both in scholastic standing and in extra-curricular activities.

At the annual sports meet on April 12, basketball, track and field and track and field relays this year were twelve sophomores. The relay winners were the sophomores, who have been received by the judges and the coach and manager Eddie Martin. For the relay, A.A. was the first relay in a variety of sports. Taking part were thirteen sophomore girls.

In the class, many of the boys and girls have taken part in Mixed basketball and track and field in previous years. The School Band has been a great success. Much musical ability has been found in this class.

Students in the different departments in this school will in their groups, compete in various other types of extra-curricular work. Two sophomores were included in one of the plays which went to contest.

Five sophomores this year served as regular staff members for the school paper.

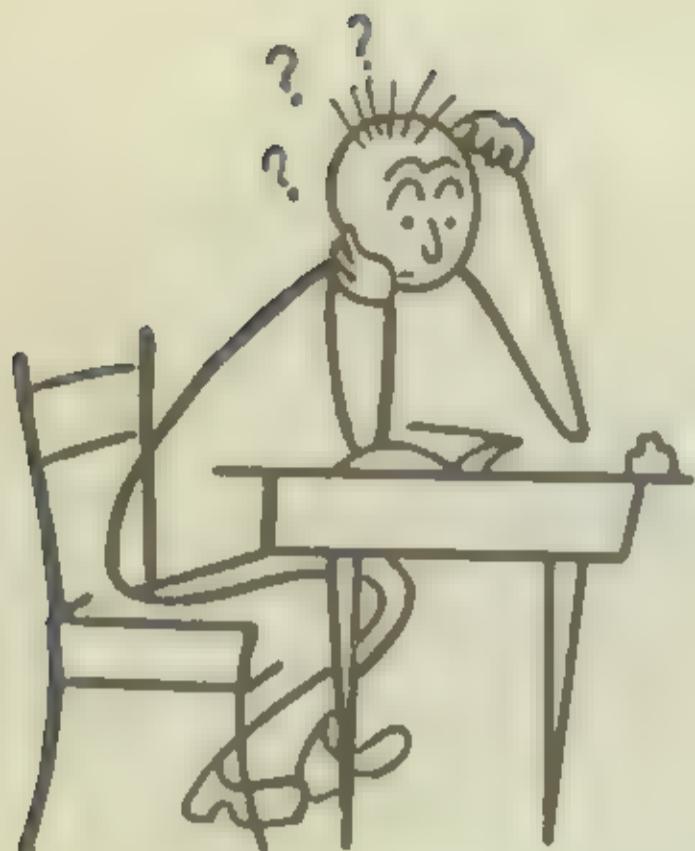

With the interests so varied, a variety of organizations in the school and the work the sophomore class has rapidly progressed toward the making of a real class.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Senior class project is to write a June Magazine. November 1, 1911.

The play centered around the Wood family, who lived in a small Mid-West town. Penny was a typical high school senior and was, at the moment, w.r.t. the play, the girl who was to be the star. The other members of the Wood family. Chuck's father, is not in sympathy with Chuck's glider. Julie, who was Chuck's sister, was a young lady who liked attention from the fellows.

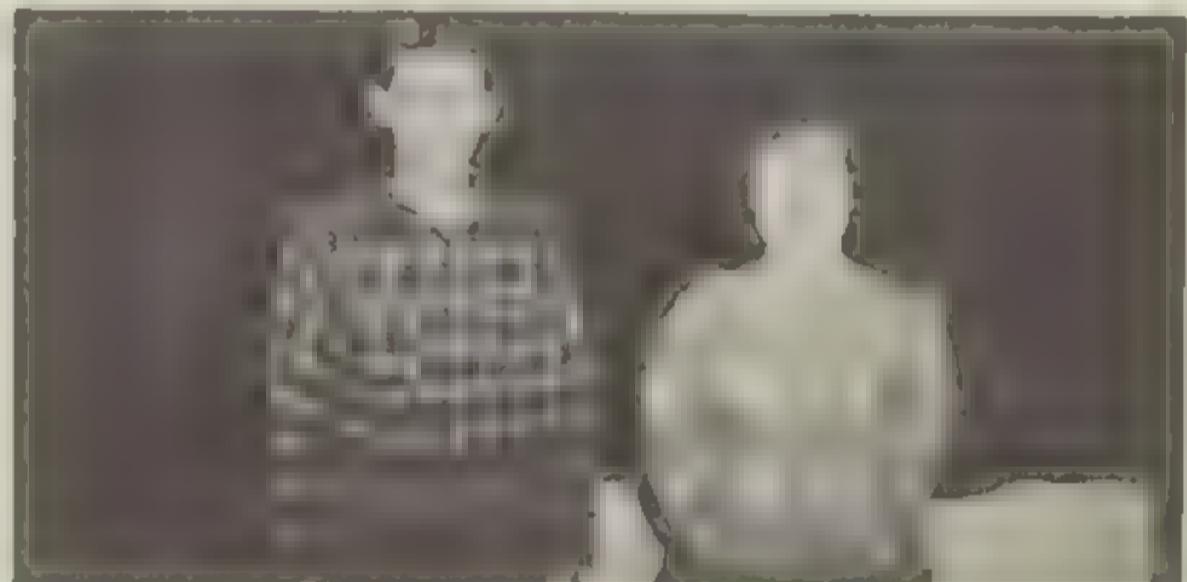

Mervyn Roberts, was Mrs. Wood's brother, who was home for a visit from college. He was accompanied by a friend, Roger VanVleck. Roger was quite a lady's man, and was supposed to assist Mervyn in his romance with Julie. Milly Lou, was a 12-year old who thought she was in love with Mervyn. The resulting mix-up of the boys and girls at a party given by Mrs Wood provided some entertaining scenes. Etta, the maid in the Wood house added to the comedy. Shirley and Ralph Wentworth were neighborhood friends of Penny.
